Digital Culture Network

Digital Culture Network

The Digital Culture Network is here to develop your organisation's digital skills, find new ways to reach and engage audiences, and help develop your business models. Working across the arts and culture sector, the network is led by nine specialist Tech Champions. We want you to be part of it.

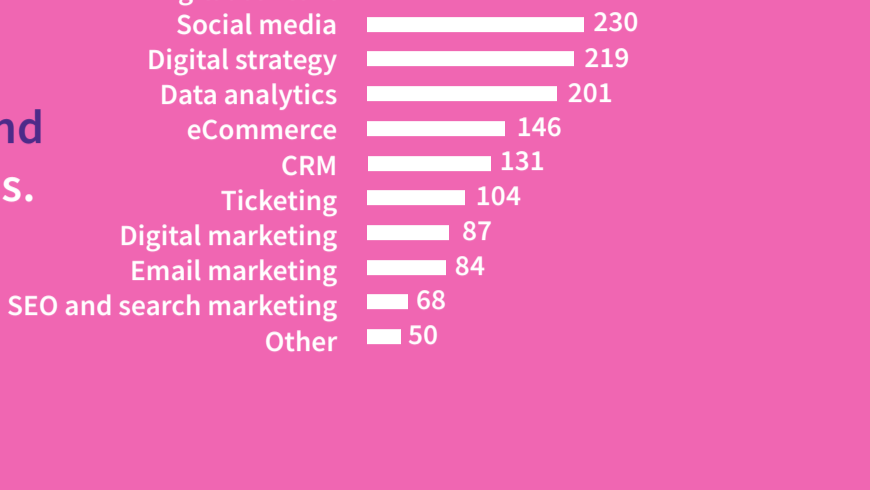

We launched the network in June 2019 and since then ...

Our team has worked with you on over

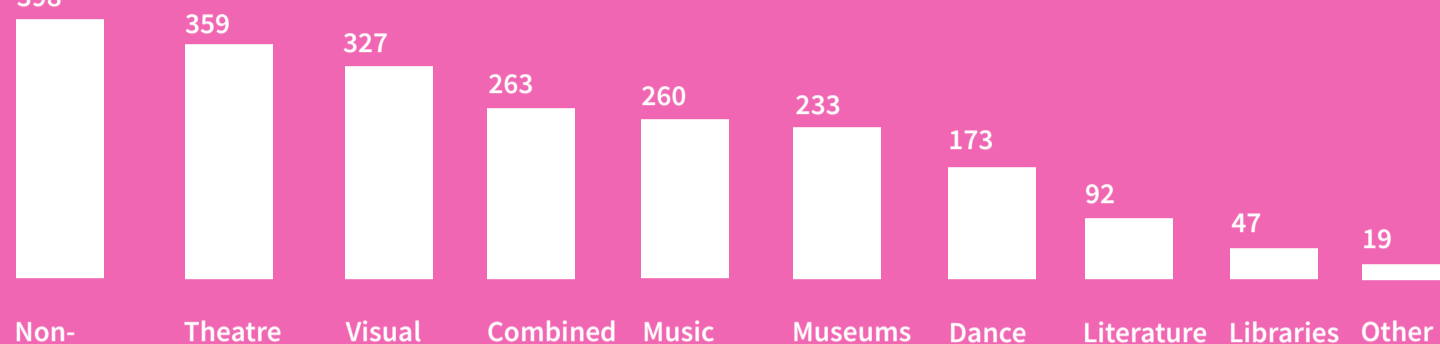

2,000 support cases.

That's 1,000+ organisations and individuals across all artforms.

Peggy is an absolute superstar. She was patient, helpful and thoughtful. She really understood our situation and gave us a huge amount of useful and practical tips to move us forward.

She was also really calm and said that we didn't need to rush ahead and make changes, which really helped us plan effectively.

We've loved meeting you at our events across the country and online

You've attended training days, workshops and webinars on subjects as diverse as SEO and online safeguarding.

660 Physical training days and workshop attendees
4,206 webinar attendees

I cannot be more delighted: your help here has been fantastic.

And as for the notes - wow! I was going to type them up myself this morning.

It was lovely to meet you, and I expect we will be in touch. You have given me a whole load of confidence.

Thank you so much!

Hello ACE and the Digital Culture Network I am getting in touch to say what a great service you are providing, thank you! Over a period of three months members of our Team have met with five Tech Champions, attended several webinars and read loads of articles which the Champions directed us to.

In all cases our Team has found the Champions and their content outstanding – we really are so grateful for this fantastic service.
