Lord Of The Rings: 25 Things Most People Don't Know About How The Movie Was Filmed

The filming of a Lord of the Rings movie is something that true fans already knew the hard way.

BY PAVIN PURHAR
PUBLISHED DEC 01, 2018

Many locations in the Lord of the Rings trilogy is altered by CGI (computer-generated imagery). Peter Jackson attempted to use less CGI to make the movie appear as natural as possible. Instead of creating a purely CGI volcano for Mount Doom, he ingeniously decided to bring the cast and crew to an active New Zealand volcano. A daring move, but the result is awe-inspiring. The filming of a Lord of the Rings volcano is only one of the things you'll read

Apple iOS 14.5 Update

- Requires apps to request permission from users before tracking them
- Safari browser already blocks third-party tracking

We're standing up to Apple for small businesses everywhere

At Facebook, small business is at the core of our business. More than 10 million businesses use our advertising tools each month to find new customers, hire employees and engage with their communities.

Many in the small business community have shared concerns about Apple's forced software update, which will limit businesses' ability to run personalized ads and reach their customers effectively.

Forty-four percent of small to medium businesses started or increased their usage of personalized ads on social media during the pandemic, according to a new Deloitte study. Without personalized ads, Facebook data shows that the average small business advertiser stands to see a cut of over 60% in their sales for every dollar they spend.

While limiting how personalized ads can be used does impact larger companies like us, these changes will be devastating to small businesses, adding to the many challenges they face right now.

Small businesses deserve to be heard.
We hear your concerns, and we stand with you.

Apple vs. the free internet

Apple plans to roll out a forced software update that will change the internet as we know it—for the worse.

Take your favorite cooking sites or sports blogs. Most are free because they show advertisements.

Apple's change will limit their ability to run personalized ads. To make ends meet, many will have to start charging you subscription fees or adding more in-app purchases, making the internet much more expensive and reducing high-quality free content.

Beyond hurting apps and websites, many in the small business community say this change will be devastating for them too, at a time when they face enormous challenges. They need to be able to effectively reach the people most interested in their products and services to grow.

Forty-four percent of small to medium businesses started or increased their usage of personalized ads on social media during the pandemic, according to a new Deloitte study. Without personalized ads, Facebook data shows that the average small business advertiser stands to see a cut of over 60% in their sales for every dollar they spend.

We believe users should have the choice over the data that is being collected about them and how it's used. Facebook can continue to track users across apps and websites as before, App Tracking Transparency in iOS 14 will just require that they ask for your permission first.

Google updates

- Will stop the use of third-party cookies in Chrome browser before 2022
- Creating a Privacy Sandbox
- Shift to Google Analytics 4

The goals of the Privacy Sandbox

The Privacy Sandbox initiative is currently in development.

The new technologies are being designed to:

Prevent tracking as you browse the web.

People should be able to browse the web without worrying about what personal information is being collected, and by whom. The Privacy Sandbox initiative aims to remove commonly used tracking mechanisms, like third-party cookies, and block covert techniques, such as fingerprinting.

Enable publishers to build sustainable sites that respect your privacy.

Website developers and businesses should be able to make money from their sites and reach their customers, without relying on intrusive tracking across the web.

The Privacy Sandbox initiative is developing innovative, privacy-centric alternatives for key online business needs, including serving relevant ads.

Preserve the vitality of the open web.

The open web is a valuable resource of information, with a unique ability to both share content with billions of people, and tailor content to individual needs.

The Privacy Sandbox proposals aim to both protect your safety online, and maintain free access to information for everyone, so that the web can continue to support economic growth, now and for the future.

The Privacy Sandbox proposals

The Privacy Sandbox proposals consist of new technologies to replace legacy, data-intensive mechanisms like third-party cookies with safer solutions that protect your privacy.

Restrict tracking as you move across the web

New principles for a more private web

Fight spam and fraud on the web

Verify people's authenticity in a privacy-preserving way

Show relevant content and ads

Blends individuals into the crowd with new privacy technologies
