Digital Culture Network

Digital Culture Network

The Digital Culture Network is here to develop the digital skills of creative and cultural individuals and organisations. Our aim is to help you find new ways to reach and engage audiences and to help develop your business models. Working across key digital specialisms, our Tech Champions are on a digital journey. We want you to be part of it.

We launched the network in June 2019 and since then ...

Our team has worked with you on over

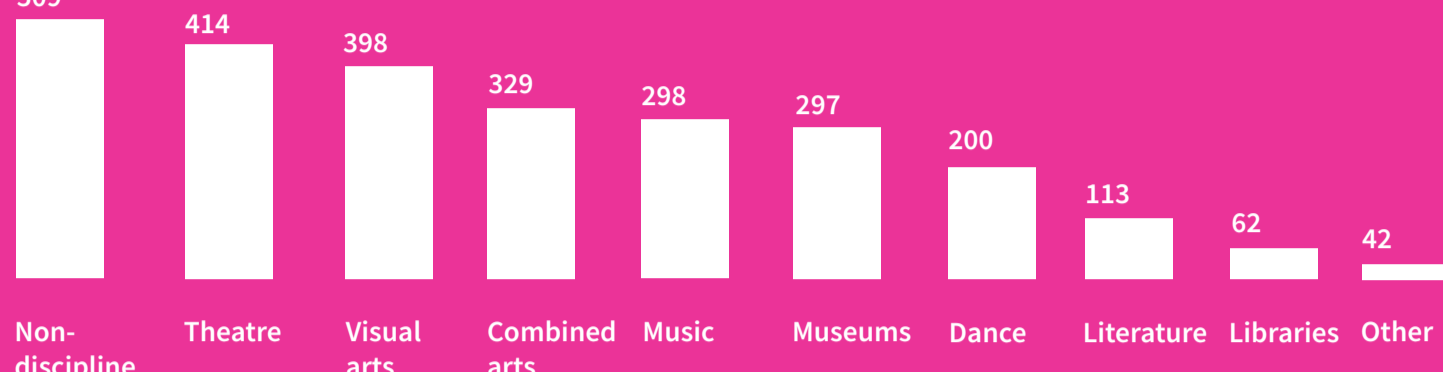

2,620 support cases.

That's 1,100+ organisations and individuals across all artforms.

I was absolutely blown away by the Digital Culture Network - everyone I have spoken to has been incredibly helpful. intelligent, kind and practical.

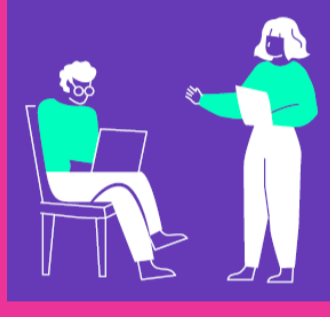

They totally understand the needs, resources and problems of a small arts institution and have shared incredible advice and lead discussion

They have acted as someone to bounce things off when I have hit a brick wall, I would recommend the Digital Culture Network to everyone, it's an amazing resource and I can't believe that it is real AND free! Thank you to everyone involved.

James was incredibly knowledgeable and helped me put the advice he gave into practice.

Really looking forward to talking with the other experts and getting back in touch with James so that he can help support on the tracking of our new digital KPIs

Thank you so much!

Always impressed by the clarity and straight forward support from the Digital Culture Network Tech Champions and my meeting with Hansel was no different. He introduced me to some fantastic opportunities that our organisation should catch onto to improve our SEO.

Amazing support, very insightful and should benefit our organisation hugely.

Thanks a lot!
